

Trance 6 (Trust)

Hello my friends. Let us speak about trust, for without trust what do you have? You have nothing. Doubt and fear are your enemies; they create the wrong conditions, the wrong atmosphere and the wrong vibrations. You must learn to trust as do we. We ask that you learn to place your trust in the laws of love, in the power that has brought you into being. Place your trust in the love of your own spirit. Place your trust in yourselves, in your own abilities. Why do you doubt? What good can come out of doubting? If you cannot place your trust in yourself, how can you place trust in others?

Practice this, my friends in your daily life, for all your experiences are opportunities to grow in love and trust is a form of love. We ask that you place your trust in us but we have to earn your trust by what we say and do. As you have to earn our trust according to how you use your free will and according to your personal responsibility. Let us build that trust together and through trust we all grow in love and wisdom.

As you witness the outworking of natural law, do you not see the results of love and the opposite to love? Not only in your daily lives but also as you look into the history of your world, there is that proof you need. So why doubt love? The power of love is the greatest force in the universe, if you are not prepared to place your trust in that, what are you prepared to place your trust in?

We know it is not always easy to trust others in your world but can you not trust yourself in how you react when others hurt you or let you down or abuse your trust. Like all forms of love, trust is something you gradually learn over time and it maybe that you have to experience hurt, failure and abuse of that trust, but it is how you react. You can react in a positive way or a negative way but that is your free will. Be guided by the laws of love, for that is what takes you to your destiny, to where you are meant to be, to what you aim for. Practice the art of trust every day, there is more trust in your world than you realise. Can you imagine your world where no one trusted each other? There is already more trust than you realise. Grow in love my friends, grow in trust and we will be able to work with each other much more closely. We will surround you with our love and say good night.
